

Submission for George Town Council Information Disclosure policy and strategy.

These two documents are in essence the same as each other, and don't serve much more than to describe how a person can make an application assessed disclosure under the Right to Information Act. I do note that the policy name has been changed from Right to Information policy, to Information Disclosure policy. However, this does not change the contents of the policy.

Council should be more proactive with disclosure of information.

Council would best serve the community by scrapping both the policy and strategy, and develop (from scratch) a single information disclosure policy in line with the Ombudsmans Guideline 3/2010.

Thankyou for inviting my comment.

Winston Archer